

New staff members at a collegiate newspaper will demonstrate proper interviewing procedures, recognize typical journalistic writing considerations and AP style rules, and distinguish between ethical and unethical journalistic behaviors to prepare for their future writing assignments through their online introductory course of the Collegiate Times.

